

A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY

The Cascade Quest Sled Dog Race is the only event of its kind in Washington State and it's right here in your own backyard! Four competition classes come together for a great weekend of fun and fellowship.

This event provides a unique opportunity to showcase your community spirit by participating as a spectator, volunteer or sponsor.

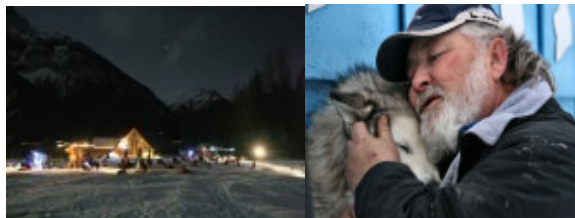

Starting and finishing in the easily accessible Plain/Lake Wenatchee area, just 2 hours east of Seattle, and running over 150 miles through the scenic North Cascades, the race is designed to test the most experienced teams and provide smaller teams with challenges of their own. The 3-day event weekend includes daytime and nighttime runs and overnight campouts.

The trail is accessible by snowmobile and lower portions by ski and snowshoe providing excellent opportunities for spectators to view the teams on the trail.

The Cascade Quest is held by permit through the US Forest Service.

EVERYONE SHARES IN THE FUN

There is something here for everyone. Come as a spectator; meet the mushers and their dogs. Take some time on the trail to ski and snowshoe. Come as a volunteer and learn the sport from the inside out!

Sponsors, get your employees together for a great weekend. All can join in the support by becoming a race volunteer or spectator.

EMBRACING THE SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY

The Cascade Quest embraces the Spirit of Community by supporting Chelan County Fire District No. 9. Your sponsorship makes possible the purchase of critical fire-fighting equipment and training for the all-volunteer brigade. Spectators are invited to join in and "fill the boot" at the races. The Cascade Quest Organizing Committee salutes your community spirit!
